Royal Insurance Company.

FIRE AND LIFE.

CAPITAL TWO MILLIONS STERLING.

This important company, in many respects the greatest of its kind in the present age, has appointed an agency in this city. The head offices are in London and Liverpool with branches in Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Manchester, Bristol, Birmingham, Sheffield, Leeds, Newcastle, Southampton, Montreal, Toronto and other cities.

The ROYAL is remarkable for the promptitude and liberality of its settlements: for the largest life bonuses (£2 per cent per annum) ever continuously declared during 15 years by any Co.; for the enormous extent of its transactions, shewing £ 06,600 in new life assurances for 1862, and a Fire revenue of £300,000 per annum; for its security, which has given rise to the proverb "as safe as the Royal;" for the accumulated funds in land, over one million sterling; for its annual income, over half-a-million sterling; and for the correct calculation of its mortality tables. Hence the English press of all countries, including over 95 leading papers, speaks in the highest terms of this company.

The report for 186 shows that all the property of the Co. amounting to £810,070 is real and substantial property;" the amount now exceeds one million sterling. The increase, during 14 years, on Fire business was 900 per cent, and on Life 1350 per cent.

Messrs. H. A. GREEN and Co. are authorised to issue policies for Fire and Life to a very large amount, at moderate premiums, the Co. being anxious to extend its foreign business, which already shews an annual revenue of £200,000. Life claims can be settled without reference to England. For further particulars please apply to Rams—Rams—Rams.

The undersigned, in calling attention to his large and superior stock of Rams and Breeding Sheep, begs to inform his Friends in the Camp that he has on hand a splendid collection of animals, from Three Hundred to Five Thousand Dollars, etc. and is confident that each in its class will compete with anything in the province.

In the "Rambouillet type" will be found some fine specimens of the pure blood, bred a cross ways from the "Mino," possessing the size, shape, and length of staple for which this class is so much admired.

In the "Negrette" he has also some beautiful animals of pure blood, as likewise the "Negrette" drawn from the fine Merino," a "Cria" remarkable for compact shape and close heavy wool.

In addition to the above he wishes to draw especial attention to his celebrated Argentine breed, between the "Rambouillet" and "Negrette Ewe," and which after seven years' experience, he can fully recommend as combining size and shape with length and weight of wool—qualities so anxiously looked for by all experienced sheep-farmers, and which have given so much satisfaction to those who have already purchased of this class. In buying the above in half three-quarter, and pure blood, already acclimatized, there is an immense advantage, as Rams reared in this country are not so delicate and withstand the winter better than imported animals, besides being sold much cheaper, and only requiring ordinary care.

He can likewise supply the above classes in Ewes, either sick'd or by the hundred, and wishes to remark that all have been in prime condition throughout the past summer.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The paper dollar war threatens to be something like the Flores' revolution: every day things getting hotter, and both parties coming off winners. Mr. Lanuz has brought an old house on his head by stating that the five thousand dollar bills are not worth the paper they are printed on; but notwithstanding the ability of the arguments brought forward on both sides, the mercantile body side with Mr. Lanuz, who is a plain-going, practical man. When the argument terminates, and the paper dollar is redeemed in gold, we shall inform our readers. Until then, it is useless to fill our columns with a subject of which every one is heartily tired.

The inaction of Brazil is causing the greatest disgust amongst the revolutionary party, and our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' complains, in unrestrained language, of the manifest injury which the tedious conduct of the Brazilians is calculated to effect. Private letters from parties in Salto affirm that the Brazilians have not joined with Flores, nor do they intend; on the contrary, they are determined to fight on their own account. The plain fact of the matter is, that when Saraiva sent in his ultimatum, the Brazilian army was in no state to commence operations. The army is being organised, as it is believed they will have to fight first with the Government troops, and afterwards with Flores, before the affair is ended. It is our duty, however to state, that we learn on high authority that Brazil has given the most satisfactory explanations to Foreign Powers, and disclaims in toto all ideas of conquest.

An out-and-out anti-European paper, "San Martin," has been started in Chile. It preaches death and ruin to all Spaniards, and calls Admiral Pinzon every name imaginable. Our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' very properly condemns it. We are glad to see this, as it shows an improved tone in the Buenos Ayrean press.

The rain yesterday was worth more to the country than all the paper dollars in the bank. It commenced about 7 o'clock a.m., and continued until late in the afternoon. In some parts of the camp the sheepfarmers were in the gloomiest mood, dreading that another drought was at hand, but yesterday's rain we think was general. The camps are good everywhere; never was the grass so abundant. The thistles are frightful, and in many places the farmers are drawing water for their sheep.

The doctors, we hear, prohibit peas, beans, and lettuce, owing to the prevalence of diarrhœa. The excessive heat during the last week has caused a deal of sickness about town. Now that the rain has come, we hope that the city will resume its usually healthy tone.

The arrivals of wool from the country have been extremely heavy of late. We have been told by a broker that over seven hundred carts of wool are at present in the plazas. The prices for wool are somewhat firmer this week than last, as the quality of the fleeces exceed the expectation of even the oldest buyers. Very little wool has as yet been sent to deposit.

On last Saturday night the President's brother, General Mitre, dashed into town, having been called in by order of Government. In a day or two we understand he leaves for Cordova; he takes up the "pecuniary element" so much needed in the provinces, so we earnestly hope we shall hear no more about the Indians.

Already grave complaints are made about the Brazilian blockade, which the "Tribuna" terms very properly as fictitious; but fictitious as it is, it is causing a deal of loss and injury in the river. Leandro Gomez seems to us to be the most determined man in the Banda Oriental. If he keeps to his word and makes Paysandú another Richmond, the war in the Banda Oriental will last longer than most people suppose.

The meeting of the Circulo Literario was poorly attended on Sunday. We suppose the heat prevented the members from attending. Sunday, however, is not to say the best day for such literary reunions, and had the meeting been on Saturday night the hall would have been crowded. On Thursday night there will be another meeting, when Dr. Gutierrez will read his new drama and Minister Rawson will give a lecture.

The Dutch man of war, Cochoorn, arrived in port yesterday. She has been sent out to prevent Dutch estanciaros from being murdered and robbed in the Benda Oriental.

The Corrientes, which was due yesterday, from Montevideo, did not come up as was expected. Possibly the weather has been unfavorable — she will probably arrive this morning and bring us four days' later news from the Mount.

The 'Pavon' in her last trip down brought no gold from San Juan, but had between ninety and one hundred bags of Corrientes cotton in the seed on board. This cotton comes consigned to a foreign house; the same which shipped the bales of cotton per Memnon. Owing to the very unfavorable news received per Payta, cotton is very low here: we cannot pay over a quarter of a silver real per pound in the seed.

Our colleague the 'Nacion Argentina' very properly contradicts the story about the Marquez de Olinda escaping from Asuncion: everyone who knows Asuncion and the numerous war vessels there ready at a moment's notice must no doubt laugh at the idea of such an old steamer as the Marquez de Olinda proving a second Wassachusetts.

In Chascomus, we perceive, foreigners are going ahead: our friend and countryman, Mr. Myles King, has been elected municipal, and probably next year will be Juez de Paz. The 'Standard' agents in the country districts must be rather popular men. for some three or four have been justices of the peace this year, and next year we expect to have some half dozen more as agents.

A rather lamentable accident occurred in Calle Maypu on Monday; part of a new building fell, wounding two or three persons seriously. We are surprised more of our houses in town do not meet the same fate, for since the Italians and Basques drove the English builders out of the city, the houses are run up on the cheapest plan. People need not be surprised if a few of them tumble now and then.

Our American friends, subscribers to the British Library, will be glad to learn that the committee of this institute have ordered, through an American house of this city, "Harper's Weekly" and "Monthly." The latest dates of the "Times," "Herald," and "World," of New York, will be found as usual on the table, being gratuitously provided by a member.

The "Tribuna" had an incorrect date yesterday, placing the Spanish Armada in the 12th, instead of the 16th, century.

The Justices of Peace for 1865 are to be nominated next month, and we would impress upon our readers in the Government House the importance of choosing effective men, no matter what their politics, who will study the management of their several districts and not appoint irresponsible substitutes.

M. Demarchi is doing a great business in artificial ice this season: he has a dozen agencies through town where it is retailed at the low charge of $5 m|c. per lb. and in quality it cannot be distinguished from the American ice formerly imported.

We have received the 'Ruiseñor del Plata' and 'Dilettanti,' the former containing some pretty pieces for the piano, the latter a musical critique. The 'Revista de B. Ayres' and Godey's Lady's-book have not yet come around.

Yesterday's papers mention two sudden deaths, one of which occurred in a hack-coach: it seems a young man far gone in consumption was being removed to the hospital, and when the driver went to open the door he found the occupant dead.

Yesterday we were informed that a rather serious riot had taken place at the works of the Southern Railway, caused by the English navvies attacking the Italians and Basques, who were working on the road. We failed to find out the particulars of this disgraceful affair, but believe it was caused by some dispute about wages; as usual, however, the matter resulted in the arrest of those concerned in it. These attempts at strikes invariably fail in this country, and could not even have a prospect of success against so popular an employer as Mr. Crawford.

A WORD TO SHEEPFARMERS.

As there are no fences, no ditches, no hedges of any description in the camp, nothing is easier than to lose sheep, nothing more difficult than to find them. But this year particularly so, in consequence of the height and density of the thistles.

Some two or three years ago the losses occasioned by the thistles were enormous, the most careful shepherds were frequently the heaviest losers, and no possible precaution or watchfulness was of any avail. Sheep strayed from one flock to another, and from partido to partido, until finally they got completely lost.

We think that if the farmers will agree to follow our suggestions, notwithstanding the fearful height of the thistles this year, there will be less sheep lost than heretofore. At present the thistles are too strong and green for any very serious loss to be incurred, if the shepherd only keeps a watchful eye, and makes a good circular road around a good sized piece of ground sufficient for the sheep to feed on. But in another month when the thistles dry up, the sheep can run in under them without hurt, where neither a man nor horse can. Then is the time when the farmers throughout the country should club together and adopt our suggestions.

1st. Every farmer should count his flock each morning when leaving the corral, and if he finds a surplus or a deficit, at once communicate same to us, giving the names of the señales, the exact locality of the flock, and the class of sheep missing or found, upon receipt of which we at once publish both in the daily and weekly 'Standard' the full particulars free of charge.

2nd. Farmers should bear in mind that there is nothing which 'querenciars' sheep, horses and cattle so much as a regular supply of water: and as the supposition that well water is less nutritious than river water is long since exploded, we advise our friends unless they have a clear never failing river to supply themselves with troughs, a 'valde sin fondo,' and a small 'pileta.' Supplied with these the farmer is in a measure independent of the weather, and the animals when accustomed to get water at a certain hour daily, will frequently, if strayed or lost in the thistles be guided by instinct, and come up to the troughs themselves for water.

3rd. There should be a unity of action amongst the farmers for mutual protection against loss. Each should be willing to afford as much information as possible, and if common criolla flocks appear to be improving at too rapid a pace, immediate notice should be sent us for publication.

Anxious to affect as much good as possible and to save our friends in the country from losing their property, we have thrown out the above suggestions, and hope if any of our readers can add to, or improve on them, they will. If the farmers combine they can make the 'Standard' a very useful element of self protection. There is not a paper printed in Buenos Ayres which is so universally read as the 'Standard' publicity of a robbery or a loss is the safest and best means for detection or apprehension, and we for our part are only too happy to be useful to our country supporters. As an instance of the great utility of publishing a robbery, &c., we may state what has come to our knowledge the other day. A subscriber in the south was robbed by a peon who decamped with two of his master's horses and some other property; a notice of "stop thief" was sent to us, and a full description of the peon given; a subscriber in the Capilla del Señor read the notice, and became convinced that the very man whom he had employed the day previously answered to the description; he at once accused and arrested the man, who at first denied but subsequently confessed his guilt; the horses, &c., were at once given up, and the owner to his astonishment a few days after received his property and became more than ever alive to the importance of advertizing.

We think it unnecessary to say any more on the subject: if the farmers lose sheep in the thistles this year, having the 'Standard' at their disposal, it will be their fault, not ours.

THE ARGENTINE INQUISITION.

The task of finding fault is so disagreeable that not until repeated complaints have reached our ears, do we take up a matter of much annoyance to the public, native and foreign, and wholly inexcusable on any grounds of fiscal vigilance.

The Resguardo on the Mole is no doubt intended to prevent smuggling, and passengers' luggage on arrival is very properly searched as a precaution on the part of the Customs' authorities. If the duties of these inquisitions were limited to such examinations, we should declare them useful members of society. But, unfortunately these fellows have become a greater nuisance than the man-catchers of Liverpool, or garlic-eaters of Genoa, by stopping every honest man, whether ship-master or passenger who attempts to leave the port with supplies or provisions of the commonest kind.

We all know that beef and vegetables are exported duty-free, yet woe betide the poor sailor who attempts to go down the Mole with a bag of potatoes or quarter of beef! His comrades on board may be hungry, but they cannot dine without a permit, and if the Custom-house be closed, or a holiday intervene, the unfortunate mariners must live on hard biscuit for a couple of days. Those initiated in the peripatetic method of our Custom-house may fancy the difficulty and bother of getting a permit, for which the ship-master has always to employ a broker or agent at a cost of $30. It is manifestly absurd to stop a man with provisions, since having paid for them he has a perfect right to eat them. Nor can the guard pretend his inability to descriminate in the nature of the goods, for even the rudest soldier can distinguish between beef and ostrich-feathers, or potatoes and barcopper.

As a general rule everything subject to import duties should be allowed to pass outwards unmolested, and this is the spirit of the law since they are pronounced duty-free, but the awful permit raises a barrier which sometimes provokes ludicrous results.

A farmer of Colonia was lately crossing over to his estancia with some old wool-bags, which were detained, but a friend advising him that everything exported in a trunk was unmolested, he borrowed a second-hand valise, and sent it back and forward for supplies of wool-bags, until he got the whole number.

A ship-captain having purchased a new coil of rope at one of the marine stores on the beach, was in like manner stopped, and as his vessel was much in need of it, and it was after Custom-house hours, he was forced to employ several persons to untwist the rope, so as to be enabled to take it on board as hemp, in which condition no difficulty was offered.

We have heard numberless cases of persons stopped for having in their possession a dozen of wine, or pickles, or some such necessary articles of food, all which had already paid duty on importation; and the only plea for stopping them was the ridiculous formality of a permit.

The annoyance, vexation, delay, and expense attending the permit are so grievous, that passengers and ship-masters declare they would much prefer a small duty were levied at the Resguardo, without any formality, which might be usefully applied towards keeping the Mole in proper repair, or pensioning the widows and orphans of the officials who fill the hateful office of Argentine inquisitors on beef and potatos at the Resguardo.

DISTRESSED CHRISTIANS IN SYRIA.

A few days ago arrived in this city the Maronite or Greek priest of Mount Libanus who has come to South America soliciting subscriptions for relief of the families and orphans of 30,000 Christians murdered in 1861 by the Druses and Turks in the district of Damascus. The awful butchery of Der-el-Kamar is still fresh in our memory, and we call to mind with gratitude the noble efforts of the French and the ex-Emir Abd-el-Kader, who succeeded in rescuing the surviving Christians from the daggers of the fanatic Musselmen.

The mendicant clergyman of whom we treat is fully authorized by his superiors, and, under the patronage of the Archbishop of Rio and Vicar of Montevideo, has been collecting charitable donations in those cities.

He said his first Mass in the Cathedral on Sunday morning in presence of a large and fashionable congregation, and the strange rite is minutely described by some of our colleagues. He is not of the Muscovite or Russian Church, (as stated by the "Pueblo,") but belongs to the small section of the Greek Church which, since the time of Photius, has continued faithful to Rome, and which numbers about two million souls. Although the Russian Greeks (60 millions) seem to differ from their Roman Catholic brethren only in the question of supremacy of the Popes, they are termed schismatics for their different interpretation of the mystery of the Holy Trinity. The United Greeks are in every respect the same as the Latin Church of Rome, except sundry matters of discipline and ritual conceded to them by the Pope, for respect of ancient traditions. Their priests are generally married men before being ordained, and their bishops widowers: their patriarch is nominated by the Pope, and there is a Greek ecclesiastical college at Rome, preserving its own peculiar rite. Their clergymen wear beards, and say Mass in the evening, giving the communion under both forms of bread and wine, to the faithful. The bread used for consecration is not unleavened, but of the ordinary kind.

The present reverend gentleman is thus described: he is about 40 years of age, wears a moustache and flowing beard, his hair long and parted in the middle, his vestments like those used at Benediction by the Latin church. The mass is very long, with parts of it sung, and frequent benedictions to the people. The rest of the bread not consecrated for the Host, is simply blessed and distributed among the faithful: we learn that the ladies present pressed forward eagerly to get some of it, which is the same custom as the Pain beni distributed in French churches.

He said Mass again on Monday at Santo Domingo church, and on Tuesday at the Merced, preaching each time in a mixed tongue of Italian and Spanish, which was, however, quite intelligible, and making collections for his distressed flock in the far-distant East.

On Sunday the congregation heard him offer up special prayer for the welfare of His Holiness, Pope Pius IX, of President Mitre and the authorities of the country, and of Monsignor Marini the Papal Nuncio.

The local journals say that his rite is in Romaic or modern Greek, and not in the ancient tongue: of this we are not sure. But it seems incorrect to say that he has a Hebrew accent, as there is no affinity between the tongues.

He will probably remain a month with us, and the bishop fervently recommends him to the charity of the public.

The bishop's secretary communicates the following particulars to the 'Nacional.' "The Rev. Father Ananias Bookoch is a monk of the order of St. Basil, and by order of his Patriarch has made a tour of Europe, North America, Peru, Chile, and Brazil, collecting for 3000 Christian orphans. He will say Mass on Wednesday at the Merced, on Thursday at the College, on Friday at Santo Domingo, on Saturday at San Juan, on Sunday at San Miguel, on Monday at the Catalinas, and on Tuesday at San Nicolas, at 9 o'clock each morning.

THE INDIAN INVASION.

Public opinion loudly calls for the resignation or removal of the Minister of War, and facts have come to confirm the idea that several frontier garrisons are not so effective as appears in the 'Planilla' of the war-office.

People may argue about the theory of frontiers, until the Indians carry fire and lance into our sheep-farms and infest our public highways, but then there is no longer room for discussion. It is rather more ingenious than straight-forward for the Government organ to patch up a defence of General Gelly-obes, and we think if the War Minister were to visit Rosario and Cordoba he would soon have undeniable proof that we speak the public sentiment.

The 'Nacion' makes great capital of some inroads recently perpetrated by the North American Indians, as if to shew that the farmers in the United States are exposed to the same curse as in Cordoba. This is a delusion. During the actual war of extermination which is going on in the great Republic, the Southerners incite the Indians to harass the Northerns, and this circumstance not existing in the Argentine provinces, the parallel is unjust. Moreover, the Indians in Cordoba have penetrated as far as they did 40 years ago, whereas it is not so in North America, where they are now driven far back into the desert, and the savage-whoop is not now heard within 500 miles of Chicago or Pittsburg. When the red-men stop communication between New Orleans and Philadelphia the 'Nacion's' comparison will prove just, but not till then.

We are, however, glad to learn that the recent atrocities of the Indians are greatly exaggerated, and instead of eight troops of bullock carts, only one troop has been sacked. The story of stopping the railway works and carrying off Mr. Wheelwright's rails was an absurd invention, as the savages could not cross the Rio Tercero or come within several leagues of the works. The despatch of General Mitre to Cordoba shews also that the Government did not underrate the danger, and we trust some years will elapse before a repetition of this disagreeable occurrence.

THE RIVER PLATE MAGAZINE.

The 11th No. of this publication is before us. The first paper is an interesting and well-written biography of the Liberator, Simon Bolivar, (translated from the French) with minute details from the time of his early marriage (at 19 years of age) until his demise near Bogotá on Dec. 17. 1830. His career was short and brilliant, for he did not long survive the war of Independence and died in the prime of his life, in his 47th year. The idea that great men are usually (like Napoleon and Moore) of short stature gains force from the fact that the Liberator of S. America was only 5 feet 4 inches high.

"Regular habits" is concluded in this number, and will divert the reader, its humor being an apology for its being borrowed.

The History of the Argentine republic Cap. III continues, from 1784 to 1795, embracing the vice-royalty of Vertiz and first appearance of the distinguished Argentine, Manuel Beigrano

"My Home" is a short piece of verse, simple and domestic: as we pretend to know little of dactyls and spondees, we may be excused offering a critical opinion.

"Parallel between Bolivar and San Martin" translated from a work by Vicuña McKenna (son-in-law to General O'Brien) shews that Bolivar was the greater, San Martin the more humane, soldier.

"The life and voyages of Magallanes" (continued) is neatly written by the co-editor, Mr. P. C. Bliss.

The chronicle of Current Events is a good summary for the north. Relative to President Lopez the editor says "should he leave the chrysalis he will be found to be a butterfly not so easy to capture as the 'Mosquito' and other B. Ayrean papers would have us believe. Apropos of the 'Mosquito' its latest effort represents our colleague the 'Standard' as standing, solitary and alone, beneath a fortress, serenading his Excellency the President of Paraguay. Whatever may be thought of the wit of the thing we are sure that the position of the 'Standard' in respect to Paraguay is much more creditable than the clumsy efforts at ridicule on the part of some of the native journals."

Rambles in Montevideo have a couple of interesting notes, and the review of local literature and periodicals is a good 'finis' to the book.

NOTES FROM CHASCOMUS.

It is pleasing to find that the ploughing fete, according to your Cañuelas correspondent, has caused such a commotion in the camp, and that in that quarter of the world there are some of our countrymen who consider themselves second to none. Although the ploughmen of Chascomus, through the kindness of the proprietor of the Adela estancia, had an opportunity of testing their skill in that branch of agricultural industry, they did not throw down the gauntlet to the whole province; still we are glad to find that the prize-takers here are ready to meet your Cañuelas friends or "any other man" in a friendly contest, and having displayed their "expertness," they "can craw as crouse" as they like, and sing the words of the bard who "walked in glory and in joy following his plough on the mountain side":

"And here's a han' my trusty frien',
And gie's a han' o' thine;
We'll tak' a cup o' kindness yet,
For the days o' Auld Lang Syne."

We are glad to learn that the present Juez de Paz, Sr. Don Francisco Hernandez, is likely to be re-appointed to that important post: that gentleman is highly respected as an impartial and pain-taking magistrate. The election of our young friend, Mr. M. J. King, of the firm of J. S. Wyllie & Co., to the municipality, is a marked sign of the liberal feeling which at present exists in this place.

In educational interest Chascomus is also progressing. Through the liberality of the municipality, a professor of French, English and Italian has been added to the already efficient staff of the public school. A new French and English seminary has also been established.

Building ground is rising rapidly in price on account of the immediate prospect of the Great Southern Railway reaching us. Already the authorities are looking out for the most suitable place for the station. The town is very pleasantly situated along the banks of the large laguna, which at times abounds with excellent fish, and there could not be a more desirable spot for the erection of summer villas for the wealthy merchants of B. Ayres.

TIGRE.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION AND THE WAR IN THE UNITED STATES.

Many of our latest exchanges from the United States are filled with rival speculations in regard to the Presidential election, and the bearing that the election will have on the war — Lincoln and McClellan having become the only candidates for the Chief Magistracy of the Great Republic. We have seen, in a late number of the Boston "Transcript," a long and vigorous communication from an officer of the Army of the Potomac, whose personality, under the signature of L., (formerly of Buenos Ayres), is vouched for by the editor, and who, writing from the Federal military camp, near Petersburg, says:

"Upon one point, at least, the peace folk will be sorely disappointed — McClellan's popularity with the army. Waiving all differences of opinion as to his military ability, and as to the efficacy of 'masterly retreats' in the subjugation of the rebellion, he has undoubtedly many friends — far less now, however, than formerly, but nevertheless, many who are loth to give up their idol, and who are yet willing to believe in his loyalty and patriotism. A few of these will, but most of his friends will not, vote for him on his present platform. After fighting under him, after implicitly trusting in his truth and honor, after indignantly repelling all suspicion cast upon his loyalty, faithfully waiting for the day when by a bold effort and a noble word he should free himself from those who are striving to ruin him, now to see him endorsed by Vallandingham, flattered by the Seymours, and side by side with George Pendleton, this, indeed, is more than the blindest devotee can stand. No anger against 'Little Mac,' as many of the old Army of the Potomac yet love to call him, but a profound regret, an unfeigned sorrow, that he should have chosen a path upon which it will be impossible to follow him.

"Unable to comprehend his weakness, they are willing to forgive, but not to follow his lead. Many whom I counted for McClellan, knowing their faith and confidence in him, have plainly told me, to my great surprise, that they should now vote for Lincoln. They say — 'Don't misunderstand us; we think as much of his abilities as ever, but we are not of his politics. Had the people at home understood us, the mistake would never have been made. Why is it that doubts are thus cast upon our loyalty? When will the nation believe that its soldiers are in earnest? Life in the trenches clears the mental vision wonderfully. We know of but two sides. Against the rebellion, and no peace until every rebel in arms shall surrender at discretion; or in favor of the rebellion and a Southern Confederacy.

"You who are at home, in the enjoyment of life, of personal comfort, of friends, and the endearments of home, can you more sincerely wish for peace than we? Life at all times is uncertain, but in the crowded city, in the peaceful homestead, one at least is not conscious of immediate peril. But to him in the front ranks every shell that bursts, every bullet that whistles, is a stern admonisher that the form prayed for, perhaps by the wife at home, dreamt of by the pure maiden who carries his heart next to her own, may the next moment lie a bleeding, mangled, distorted corpse. Is it not hard to think that the lips that would kiss you, the face that would nestle to yours, would shrink in horror from the crushed skull and limbless trunk, made so by the merciless shell? Only the other day a young officer, recently married was killed, shot dead by a rebel bullet. His term of service had nearly expired, two days only, and then he was free to go home. He spoke of his plans, his hopes of future enjoyment, his belief in final success: death was farthest of all from his mind. And to be cut down thus! It seems hard, indeed, but this is only one case. Surely, we have some reason for desiring peace; at least, we have as good a right to call for it as the opposition. Yes, we want peace, but what sort of peace? It is better that you should see for yourself. Pass down the ranks, speak to those who are just in from picket duty, who are weary, tired, and hungry: tell them to throw down their muskets and go home to their wives and their children. What would be their answer? I do not know, but I would not guarantee your personal safety. 'You ask too much of us. We have suffered too much to be thus humiliated, and have, I trust, too much patriotism thus meanly to compromise with black treason. Yes, we want a peace, but it must be one which will witness the utter annihilation of the rebellion, the destruction of those pernicious doctrines on slavery and state rights so fatal to all true government, the ruin of that social fabric whose 'corner-stone' is slavery, wrong, and villainy; and last, and that which includes all, the re-establishment of our Union upon a free white basis. That is the peace we are fighting for—the only peace we desire.'"

If the Federal writer, from whose letter in the 'Transcript' we have made these quotations, and who, we understand, was until recently opposed to the party now in power, foreshadows correctly the feelings and purposes of his comrades in arms generally, it is not at all unlikely that Mr. Lincoln has been re-elected. We shall hear, the latter part of next month, who has been the successful candidate.

THE AFFAIR OF THE ESSEX.

An American account of this memorable incident having been published in our columns we have been requested to admit the following, which is more impartial and trust-worthy, being extracted from the History of Chilian Independence by D. Diego Barros Arana:

"The Phœbe and Cherub arrived at Valparaiso on the 8th of February, but contrary to the wishes of Commodore Hillyar to conclude at once a treaty of peace with Chile, he found anchored in the bay the American frigate Essex with two of her prizes, which prevented him from proceeding to Santiago. To increase the difficulty, Commodore Porter who commanded the American ships commenced hostilities by promoting desertion among the English vessels, without however openly attacking them. Being situated in neutral waters, this was a serious impediment to both in their desire to come to an engagement. Porter thinking himself weaker than his adversary obstinately refused to leave the bay, though he made repeated feints to deceive Hillyar, all of which were unsuccessful.

At length after six weeks on the evening of March 28th, Porter took advantage of a favourable breeze to steer out to sea; Hillyar pursued him closely and overtook him about a mile north of Point Castéta. A fierce combat ensued botween them, in which the English Commodore proved the victor, after which Hillyar had no longer any difficulty in proceeding to Santiago to arrange with the Chilian Government for the conclusion of the treaty.

There was scarcely anything done on 'Change to-day: the average commission of the brokers hardly reaches $20. Owing to the rain, the attendance on 'Change was poor. The only business done of any importance was in exchange: several thousand pounds was passed at 49¼ and 49½.

There is a great demand for sovereigns, as some persons have advised the Provincial Bank that if they take the sovereigns off the market no specie could be shipped; nevertheless we hear on the best authority that two hundred thousand patacons will be shipped, and had the rate of exchange not gone up double this amount would have gone.

We are happy to say that the acrimonious discussion between Mr. Lamuz and Mr. Rom has terminated. Mr. Lamuz has written rather harshly, and we believe admits it in a article which will appear in to-morrow's 'Nacion Argentina.'

There have been no sales of National bonds these last few days. The mooted arrangement between the Government and the banks respecting advancing 50 per cent. on these securities has ended in nothing.

Money is tight and apt to be much tighter. The River Plate Bank we hear has raised its rate of interest to 15 per cent, allowing seven.

Owing to the heavy rains there were no sales of wool.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest; thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m till Three p.m on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1868.

BENSON'S WATCHES AND CLOCKS.

Watch and Clock Maker, by Special Appointment, to His Royal Highness The Prince of Wales.

Opinions of the London Press upon Benson's Great Clock and Watches in the Exhibition, 1862.

"As a sample of English clock work on a large scale, the works of this are probably the finest finished that have ever been seen in this country. No Chronometer could be fitted with more perfectness or carefully adjusted mechanism."—Times, June 11 1862.

"A triumph of ingenuity."—Telegraph March 11 1862.

"A more splendid and exquisitely finished piece of mechanism we have never seen."—Standard, June 17 1862.

"Some of them are of great beauty and if the English watch-trade only follow up with the same spirit and success this first attempt to compete with foreigners in decorative watches, there seems to be no reason why we should not get the trade entirely into our own hands."—Times, June 23, 1862.

"Ranged around the base of the clock were the Watches which Mr. Benson exhibited, and which have been universally admired for the beauty and elegance of the designs engraved upon them. The movements are of the finest quality which the art of horology is at present capable of producing. The clock and watches were objects of great attraction, and well repaid the trouble of an inspection."—Illustrated London News, November 8, 1862.
